It is a pleasure to invite you to submit proposals to the CAST 2022 Web Conference. The theme of the CAST 2022 Web Conference is: Holding the free and protected space in our time. This theme resonates strongly with the increased need for safety and containing in uncertain times, like the time of COVID-19 we recently have faced collectively.

The Conference committee invites Kalfjian Sandplay Therapists and advanced Sandplay trainees who might be interested in presenting at the CAST 2022 Web Conference to submit their proposals for consideration. All presenters, whose applications will be accepted for presentation, will be granted a free registration to the Web Conference and an access to all online events associated with the Web Conference.

In keeping with the Conference theme “Holding the free and protected space in our time” presenters may consider a wide range of topics related to one of the following areas of interest:

- Creating and supporting “free and protected space” in an anxious time
- Images appearing in the sand tray during the time of collective uncertainty and turmoil (like in the time of COVID-19 or other natural or human-created disruptions)
- Experiences of uncertainty in the personal and collective
- Concepts and practices of the Self-care for the sandplay therapists and other care providers
